Note from the Illustrator

I started this project by accident. A friend posted the above photo on social media, and for a split second, I thought someone put birds in mini-burkas. Why my brain went to that particular interpretation is beyond me, but it made me laugh really hard. Naturally, I had to draw the Birds in Burkas, and that made me laugh even harder. So, I decided to do the whole alphabet to keep myself laughing, and it ended up helping me maintain my mental health in the aftermath of the 2016 election. I hope it helps you, too.

Make art. It helps.

Tamra Carhart is an illustrator and graphic facilitator. When she's not keeping herself [relatively] sane by drawing ridiculous cartoon animals, she helps people and companies collaborate and communicate through graphic facilitation.
